

Storyboards

I learned that I should provide more information. Some people have never used google cardboard and they don't really get the context of why this person needs to download this app, or what some of the images meant (such as putting the phone in the google cardboard). Explain these steps more thoroughly. I should show more of the in between phases, how did someone get to that decision and why? Try to specify what kind of tech crowd I am targeting with this product. Give the actual application more context too, maybe more information on the loading screen.
